KELLY PLAYS PEACEMAKER

The drama on Yellowstone isn't always for the cameras. Sources tell Star that tensions among the cast were high after Kevin Costner, who plays patriarch John Dutton on the hit Western, demanded a reduced schedule — putting the future of the show in jeopardy. The 68-year-old reportedly wants time to focus on his upcoming movie, Horizon, which he wrote, produced and will direct and star in. He's also set to host an eight-part docuseries about the West for The History Channel. Enter his onscreen daughter (a.k.a. Kelly Reilly), who has been acting as a go-between between the sometimes-alooof Kevin and the disgruntled rest of the cast. "Kelly has a close relationship with Kevin onscreen and off," says an insider. "Kelly's taken it upon herself to play peacemaker." To that end, she's been sending friendly texts, adds the insider. "She's asking for one more season so the show can have closure." ★

"It may take more than sweet talk to resolve the issue," says an insider.

THEY WANT MORE!

CLASSIC BEAUTY

"Kim's always been obsessed with skincare and staying out of the sun," says an insider.

KIM'S NEW LOOK

She sure doesn't look like a grandma! Reclusive actress Kim Basinger, who turns 70 this year, looked beautifully smooth-skinned at daughter Ireland Baldwin's recent baby shower, leading some to believe she'd had some nip and tucks. "Kim is so excited to see her daughter become a mom," an insider tells Star. "But being labeled a grandmother is totally freaking her out."

Dr. Anand Geria, a Verona, N.J., board-certified dermatologist, cites a number of treatments the Fifty Shades Darker actress may have had, from Botox on her forehead to fillers to volumize her cheeks. "It's possible skin-tightening treatments like radiofrequency microneedling have been used to help sagging skin," adds Geria, who does not treat Kim. Plastic surgeon Anthony Youn, M.D., F.A.C.S., also not Kim's doc, thinks she may have taken a step further: "She appears to have undergone a face-lift, giving her a perfectly sculpted jawline." Either way, she's an ageless beauty! ★

KYLIE & KENDALL: NO TIME FOR CAIT!

Makeup mogul Kylie Jenner and her model big sis Kendall Jenner are having daddy issues — and pop Caitlyn Jenner is feeling the pain. "Caitlyn's desperate for more face time with the girls," an insider tells Star. "She's tried endlessly to see them so they can bond and maybe even collaborate on business ventures." Kylie, 25, and 27-year-old Kendall are simply not interested. "They tolerate their dad up to a point," says the insider. "But they're doing their own thing and Cait's clinginess is both awkward and annoying."

They don't seem to have that problem with their momager mom, Kris Jenner, 67, who divorced the 73-year-old in 2015. "Cait complains all the time about how unfair that is, because when the girls were growing up, she was way more hands-on than Kris," adds the insider. "It really burns her up that she's shut out." ★
